

File and directory structure

Excluding the files and directories necessary to operate the system (i.e. css, fonts, js, service-worker.js), the main application directory contains several elements that are of interest to us:

In this folder we will define and style all our forms.

files that allow you to configure the appearance of the form (changing colors, styling views, control buttons, etc).

configuration files of each form

logo file

list of all manifest.json

SystemConfig.json file

Main system configuration, here you set communication with OTRS, default language and many more [[[more in the Main configuration file - global settings]]].

manifest.json file

This file is responsible for PWA settings (for more advanced users), if you are not an advanced user - leave it as it is.

index.html file

In this file you can change the title of the form page, you can change it by changing the text in the `<title></title>` attribute.
